WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our regular correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27th, '94.
The "kicking" Democratic Senators instead of being read out of their party are today masters of the situation. The free traders have surrendered to them and they have dictated the changes they wished made in the tariff bill, and those changes will appear later on as Finance committee amendments. Still the Democrats are not happy. The Republicans have not surrendered, and what is more they don't intend to. They are not frightened even a little bit by Democratic threats of overthrowing rules and precedents, in order to force the bill through by the first of June.

The Coxe army, or "much ado about nothing," movement isn't frightening the people of Washington, but judging from the extra precautions taken to guard the White House, residences of members of the Cabinet and the Treasury department, the administration has got an idea that the Coxeyites are after it. Present indications are that the "army" will be a very small affair when it comes into Washington next week.

An important meeting of the executive committee of the National Republican League was held in Washington this week. The proceedings were all secret, but it was plainly evident that they were entirely satisfactory to those who participated in them. Secretary Humphrey, when asked for some information as to what was done, said, "No doubt there has been much in our executive sessions here which good Republicans all over the country will be anxious to know about, but they must wait and get it through the private league sources. Some Democrats read newspapers as well as Republicans, and we don't want them to know our plans. You can say, however, that plans of campaign were discussed and adopted which we all feel confident will result in a large increase of Republican votes in the states where they will be put into practice." This committee will make a report on the proposed change in representation in National conventions, to the Denver league convention.

Mr. William R. Hearst, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner, will, if one may judge by the contents of a bill he this week filed in court, be glad to leave the business of prosecuting claims against the government in the hands of lawyers hereafter. The bill is against Mr. John Wedderburn, manager of the "Examiner Bureau of Claims" and of the "Press Claims Co.," of this city, and asks for the appointment of a receiver. Mr. Hearst, who was a partner of Wedderburn in the original Examiner Bureau, charges that would-be-Napoleon of claim manipulators with having started the "Press Claims Co." without his consent and maintained it with money belonging to the Examiner Bureau; with mismanagement and refusing to refund money to subscribers of the Omaha Bee and St. Paul Pioneer Press, in accordance with contracts; with creating a large indebtedness and signing the firm name without authority to a note for $8,000 cashed by Mr. Hearst's mother; with applying firm moneys to the payments of his personal expenses, and with injuring the reputation of the San Francisco Examiner by sending out a circular offering prizes for inventions, and by general mismanagement of cases sent to him.

Senator Power, of Montana, having been assured by several Democratic Senators that they would vote for an amendment to the tariff bill placing a lower duty on wool than that imposed by the McKinley law, has offered as an amendment to the tariff bill the present law on the importation of wool, with the following reductions in the amount of duty: On wool and hair of the first class, 7 cents a pound, instead of ten cents; second class 8, instead of 12, cents a pound; on wools and camel's hair of the third class 4 and 5 cents a pound instead of 32 and 50 per cent. Senator Power is working hard to get supporters for this amendment, in order to save the wool industry of his state from destruction.

Senator Sherman does not often take the role of an adviser of the Democratic Senators, but he did at the regular meeting of the Senate Finance committee this week. Seeing that those in charge of the tariff bill are determined to retain the income tax Mr. Sherman deemed it to be his duty to point out the injustice and the danger of levying tribute upon the thousands of building associations of the country and to advise the Democrats to amend the bill so as to protect all share holders and maintain bona fide building associations, where the working people deposit their wages for future homes, free from the ravages of an income tax. As the result of Mr. Sherman's talk it was announced in the Senate that the Finance committee will frame an amendment exempting building associations.

The most notable feature of Senator Mills' speech on the tariff was his declaration that the Democratic party intended to let in free the manufactured articles of Great Britain, in order to persuade Great Britain to buy her entire supply of wheat from us, instead of 52 per cent of it, as at present. In other words, Mr. Mills would destroy the manufacturing industries of the United States as an experiment to see whether it would increase the demand for American wheat in England. It isn't any wonder that times are hard when statesmen of the Mills' brand are controlling the party in power.

ALMOST IN SIGHT.

The Coveted Opera House Coming Our Way.

A Magnificent Enterprise Inaugurated. The Hotel Opera House Company Almost an Assured Fact.

An application has been filed for incorporation papers for The Hotel Opera House Company, of Hillsboro.

The purpose of this enterprise is to erect a thirty-thousand-dollar structure combining hotel, opera house and business rooms. The incorporators are C. S. Bell, J. B. Hawk, M. F. Carroll, H. L. Wiggins, Carl Utman and L. B. Boyd.

The capital stock of $30,000 is to be divided into six hundred shares of $50 each.

The books will be opened in a few days. The location of the proposed new structure is on the lot now occupied by J. B. Hawk's residence, and the Parker House adjacent. It will be extended over the alley between.

On the ground floor west of the alley will be two business rooms, one 83 by 18, the other 77 by 18. Between these rooms will be a ten-foot corridor from the street to the Opera House.

The latter will be located in the rear, where Mr. Hawk's ground extends across the width of another lot. This gives ample room for an opera house 100 by 76 feet—sufficient to seat from fifteen to sixteen hundred. There will also be a side entrance opening on the alley some 85 feet from the street. This Opera House being on the ground floor will obviate all apprehension of danger.

Over the store rooms, on what is commonly called the first floor in hotels, will be an elegant dining room 48 by 24 feet, and eight elegant well lighted and ventilated sleeping rooms and four bath rooms. Over the alley will be a number of commodious and well lighted sample rooms.

On the next floor will be fourteen splendid sleeping rooms and seven bath rooms.

Across the alley the present ground and first floors will be thrown into one story, with elegant parlors and reception rooms in front. The frame structure at the rear will be torn away and replaced with a new building.

Altogether the finished house will have sixty fine sleeping rooms, besides all modern appointments and conveniences.

It's frontage will be 110 feet. It will be provided with steam for heating and steam power for elevators and incandescent light plant. Hot and cold water will be piped through the building. Both hotel and opera house will be lighted with electricity.

The two business rooms will be occupied—the one next the alley as a billiard and pool room—without any bar in connection. The other will probably be utilized for an elegant barber shop and bath room.

These are the general features of the enterprise, the plans and specifications of which are in the hands of the incorporators.

While there might be a reasonable doubt whether a modern opera house with appropriate architectural elegance and symmetry of exterior would pay much on the investment because of the heavy cost of independent construction, it can readily be seen that, with this combination the maximum of utility may be obtained at the minimum of cost.

The completion of this contemplated enterprise will enable our citizens to enjoy first class talent in the line of public entertainments, and, we trust, it will meet with prompt and hearty encouragement.

While Mr. T. J. Richey, of Altona, Mo., was traveling in Kansas he was taken violently ill with cholera morbus. He called at a drug store to get some medicine and the druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy so highly he concluded to try it. The result was immediate relief, and a few doses cured him completely. It is made for bowel complaint and nothing else. It never fails. For sale by Seybert & Co.

A Columbus paper commits a grievous error when it bounces the prisoners in the O. P., and in speaking of the applicants for pardon, denounces them as a gang of thieves, murderers and outlaws. There are prisoners in the O. P., who, the victims of circumstances for the time beyond their control, became violators of the law. Many of such are the social and intellectual peers of those who so eagerly denounce them as the scum of the earth.—O. P. News.

Not Above Robbery!

During the political campaigns of recent years the Democracy has hurled at the advocates of protective tariff the most terrible anathemas their inventive genius could construct from all the vast resources of the English language. Cleveland appeared, and with the finger of accusation pointing at the Republican party, condemned it, with all the accessories of stage effect, as a robber of the poor for the benefit of the rich. Then his followers took up the cry. Some roared, some shrieked and some lamented, till their aggregated noises rolled across the sky like the sounds of cyclonic fury. Never was such a wind-storm known before. From ocean to ocean, from lakes to gulf, over mountains and plains it swept across and back, and round, and round, and round again. It rattled and roared and billowed and bellowed, like the crash of a million contending thunders. The very earth shook in terror, and many lost their minds. And all we could make out of the tumult was,

"ROBBERY!! ROBBERY!! MY GOD! ROBBERY!!!"

By this amazing exhibition of lung power the Democracy captured the government. Now, pull aside the curtain. What do you see? A crowd of Democratic statesmen in frenzied combat! What about? Are they tumbling over each other to repeal the iniquitous robbery? Are they crowding to the front with parliamentary weapons gleaming to strike down the fearful outrage placed on our National statutes by the Republican party? Are they throttling the robbers who have pauperized the poor and aggrandized the rich? Not if the court knows herself.

The Wilson Bill has fallen among a pack of wolves, wrangling and tearing each other over its carcass. The representative of each section insists with fierce-eyed ardor that his constituents must be allowed in some special line to continue this iniquitous robbery. In his especial field the poor must continue to be oppressed and the rich must still be made richer! Even the President condescends to take a hand and assumes to dictate terms to all. Thus the aggregation is now in an uproar which can only be settled by an abject and complete surrender of all campaign promises and professions. Gentlemen, by your own standards you must be condemned, either as liars or thieves. Which do you choose?

Speaking of the Coxey Queers, the Globe Democrat deprecates the undue importance given them by the press and Congress, and thinks they are only after notoriety. It continues:

There are other delegations of citizens going to Washington as petitioners, however, that deserve more consideration than Coxey's ridiculous organization. Several of the leading industries of the country have sent or are sending representatives there—actual workmen, and not tramps or adventurers—to protest against the injurious effects of the Democratic plan of tariff reform, and to furnish practical reasons why that plan should be abandoned. These men are entitled to respectful and indulgent treatment. They are not trying to intimidate Congress, or threatening to pull down the pillars of the temple; they are simply asking for the privilege to show that a monstrous mistake is about to be made in the adjustment of the tariff, and that legislators who care for the welfare of the people can not afford to aid in carrying out such a project. This privilege is one that belongs to them under the Constitution, which declares that the right to "peaceably assemble and petition for a redress of grievances" shall not be denied. The agents and lobbyists of the different trusts have been allowed to present arguments in the interest of those great monopolies, and the pending bill has been changed to suit their wishes and protect their business; and certainly the representatives of those who are being thrown out of employment by the proposed reduction of customs duties may justly and fairly claim a like degree of attention. They are not demanding that special discrimination shall be made in their favor, but only that the theory of discriminating against them for the benefit of foreigners shall be discarded; and it will not do to say that the opportunity of submitting their views in that relation can be properly refused.

Witchcraft.

There are wonderful things occurring every now and then in the way of mental phenomenon.

Last week in our report of real estate transfers occurred this item:

Administrators of John A. Patterson to S. A. Weaver, 367 acres, Elizabeth township, $9,946.22.

The strange part of it is that we wrote Elizabeth township when there is no such township in Highland county.

Now, there is an Elizabeth township in Lawrence county, toward which our heart often goes out in memory of a good and friendly people. At first, we were inclined to think some freak of kind recollection had put the word on our pen. But this explanation vanished when we discovered that the Hillsboro Gazette, Greenfield Enterprise and Tri-County News all had it "Elizabeth township." We rushed to the records, and there it was written "Liberty township," as plainly as the Recorder's excellent assistant could make it.

Here is a mystery worthy the attention of the most profound scientist. By what influence, earthly, heavenly or infernal, could four editors, some of them seventeen miles away, all be made, within one week, to blunder onto the same identical absurdity? It's the most mysterious incident we ever encountered, and may attest the existence of wonderful hypnotic laws hitherto unsuspected. We doubt not, here's a wealth of fame and gold for the successful investigator. Heaven speed him!

The promptness and certainty of its cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy famous. It is intended especially for coughs, cold, croup and whooping coughs, and is the most effectual remedy known for these diseases. Mr. C. B. Main, of Union City, Pa., says: "I have a great sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I warrant every bottle and have never heard of one failing to give entire satisfaction." 50 cent bottles for sale by Seybert & Co.

"How is it that you make so much money out of that slot machine? It claims to tell the correct age, doesn't it?" Proprietor—Yes, but I've had it fixed so it misses it by ten years every time.

The Jeffersonville Bank has paid its depositors dollar for dollar.

Paul J. Sorg, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Third District, was elected by about 1,300 majority.

Miss Pollard refuses to enter public life. Now, if Willie had half as much sense as Madge, what a relief it would be!

New York banks have $32,000,000 that nobody wants to borrow for business purposes. That's a condition, and not a theory.

The Sabina Tribune is a neat and newsy paper, the second number of which lies (in no offensive sense) on our editorial desk. Success to its courageous publishers.

Coxey's embottled hosts still threaten the Capitol. Grover has ordered Gresham to get the bait can and fishing tackle ready, as usual in the face of great emergencies.

The South Carolina Dispensary law has been declared unconstitutional, and now there are more doggeries than ever. But the State has pocketed $40,000 profit from its business venture.

McKinley is the unanimous choice of the Republican members of the General Assembly for President, while Foraker is their choice for Senator. This is just as it should be. And the time will come when Foraker will be called from the Senate to still higher honors.

The revenues of the government have decreased twenty-four per cent. during the last year. What's the matter? Doesn't it look as if Democracy was a miserable failure? It's getting a little too late for the worn out whine that the Republicans did it. The Democracy has had absolute and undisputed power since Cleveland's inauguration. Why doesn't it do something?

The House has passed a bill by Mr. Haskell, requiring Assessors for this year to make and return to the Auditor a list of all soldiers and sailors in the county who served in the Mexican war, and the war of the rebellion. The list is to be placed in the Adjutant General's office at Columbus, for the public use. A fine of from $5 to $25 is the penalty for non-compliance with this law.

Now ladies can vote in Ohio, providing the Supreme Court shall rule that they are "male citizens," as the constitution requires. If they do vote they should congratulate themselves that the Kansas law is not in vogue here, which requires that each voter shall so stand in his booth that his legs shall be visible to the knees. If any of our legislators should suggest the adoption of the Kansas law, let him die the death!

Types do some funny things, as we have learned by exasperating experience. In speaking of the issue of additional water works bonds, the Gazette last week said:

The election will be held on the 718th of June, as stated above, but, before that comes around it must be demonstrated to the people of Hillsboro that there is a plentiful supply of water in the wells.

Well, yes, we rather incline to think the proper tests should be made before the 718th day of June "comes around." It isn't best to put that matter off too long.
